HIGHLANDERS WIN FIRST DEFEAT CINCINNATI REDS IN

ONESIDED GAME, Hilltoppers Having Been South More Used to the Frigid Weather—Clark's Errors Force Visitors to Practise Base

unning-Pitcher Caldwell Hit Hard. CINCINNATI. April 1.—Frappéd baseball between the Highlanders and Reds this afternoon in the first of a series of three games was a mere canter for the Highlanders, who won by a score of 8 to 3. Maybe the Highlanders were more acclimated than the Reds to the cold weather, having been in the sunny South more recently. The latter have been at home for a week, but with the thermometer too low for good practice, while for the same length of time the New York Greenlanders have been bucking icy breezes in games in the South. Anyway, the polar picnic this afternoon and the Highlanders, or Greenlanders, found the Highlanders, or Greenlanders, much more spry in every way than the Reds. Manager Chase easily had it on his former boss, Manager Griffith. Manager Hal's aides outbatted and outfielded the Reds. They also left them far behind at running the bases and excelled them in the pitching department. The Reds were stagnant and played without any of the ingenuity of attack shown by the New Yorks.

Owing to the poor throwing of Catcher
Bob Clark the New Yorks ran their legs

Fisher's speed was so hot that those in the immediate vicinity of it had no cause to complain of the cold. Fisher had the Reds shut out he left the game. This youngster showed up impressively.

The Reds hit Caldwell hard enough to be entitled to one of their runs off the slim server, but he gave them two in the seventh inning on a wild pitch. Caldwell struck the side out in that inning, but between the strikeouts were sandwiched two singles

ATLANTAS HAVE REVENGE. Defeat Glants in Close Game by Score

ATLANTA. April 1.—A beating by the Atlanta Crackers to-day was the all fools day trick fate played on the Giants. They wanted to pile up as big a score as they could to-day, but instead they fell down in fielding and threw away the game on five errors. Every Atlanta run can be traced to a fielding misplay. Capt. Larry Doyle after putting the Giants in the game in the ninth with a hit that tied the score booted is away in the tenth on an easy chance. There were two out and runners on second and third when Doyle contributed his fumble, and that ended the game. Bridwell had an off day, both of his misplays costing runs. Drucke contributed a wild throw and a wild pitch, each of which cost a run.

There were no boxing bouts to-day, and a large crowd-off nearly 400 people was disappointed because no preliminaries were put. on. A big squad of policemen was detailed to Ponce De Leon Park, and they allowed nobody on the field but players. Their presence served to keep down arguments.

Their presence served to keep down arguments.

The Giants have nobody to blame for their defeat but themselves. The umpire was good to-day and there was little or no wrangling over his decisions. The New Yorkers did not think it possible to lose to such a team as Atlanta presented in the preceding games, but to-day Manager Jordan got back in the game himself and presented a pair of left handed pitchers. Jordan was pretty near the whole opposing team, as he scored four of his team's six third hit in the tenth and cro-sed the plate with the winning run.

This was the first exhibition game McGraw's regulars have lost in three years and consequently. Atlanta fans consider it a great victory. The Giants were fortunate to make it as close as they did. In the first shoulder for a home run. In the fifth scored again, walking and stealing and scoring on Murray's hit. These four runs were all that the Giants made off Doc Scanhita, a brother of the Brooklyn pitcher, although they maced him for nine hits. Crable held them to three singles in the next five innings.

Drucke's wild throw and singles by Jordan and Sykes handed back two runs to gan and sykes handed back though they maced him for nine hits. Crable held them to three singles in the next five innings.

Drucke's wild throw and singles by Jordan and Sykes handed back two runs to Atlanta in the third inning. The Crackers lied in the sixth on Jordan's triple, a hit by Sykes, Bridwell's muff of a thrown ball, a sacrince and an infield out. They thought they had the game won in the eighth when Bridwell fumbled Jordan's grounder as a starter. Sykes sacrificed and Jordan took third on a wild pitch, scoring on Zimmerman's single.

COLUMBIA'S CLOSE CALL. Two Runs in the Ninth Just Beats Rutgers in Fast Game.

Rallying in the ninth inning when one run behind the Columbia baseball team de-feated Rutgers 6 to 5 on South Field yesterday afternoon in a game which had once been safely won and then thrown away by a change of pitchers and a costly error. Murray Lee, the veteran Columbia pitcher, was in the box for the first five innings and shut out the visitors while his team mates were making four runs. Rothwell then went in and met with a warm reception, which gave Rutgers five runs in two innings and a one run lead, which was held up to the ending of the ninth. Then Columbia braced and with one out Shibley, who was sent in as a pinch hitter, singled cleanly. Osterhout, who followed him, was given a base on balls and Ted Kiendl, the first baseman and basketball star, came to bat. He selected a nice one and hammered it over second base, driving in both Shibley and Osterhout and winning the game.

Columbia took the lead in the fourth inning when the Blue and White players made two runs on errors made by their opponents, which were followed up in the fifth with another brace of runs which were made on clean and consecutive hitting. The lead looked safe until the catastrophe in thesixth and seventh. The Rutgers players seemed to like the pitching furnished by Rothwell and they lost no time in making six hits.

The New Yorks opened the cold conflict with a flourish. Daniels spilled a single in centre, moved up on Hemphill's out and came through when Chase pummelled a two bagger past Bescher. Chase made a dashing steal of third and came the rest of the route because Eddle Grant mishandled Clark's throw.

The Heds had another grongy spell in the fourth. Hartzell, author of three his jannied a hit to centre. He stormed second on Knight's foul to Hoblitzel. Cree grounded to Altizer, who threw to third to nip Hartzell, but Grant dropped the throw. Johnson was hit by a pitched ball. Sweeney came to time with a clean single to left and fetched in two runs. Johnson reached third on Hescher's throw in. Fisher walked, Daniels sent a short fly to Beck. Johnson scored on the catch.

Hartzell, Knight and Cree stole second in succession in the fifth inning. In addition Hartzell and Cree made hits and Clark contributed a couple of bad throws. The net proceeds were two runs. Sweeney was hit in the safety: and on poor handling of the short on fly balls. Daniels smothers are to have an enlarged and renovated ball park next playing here on March 30, 31 and April 1, 1912.

mission's local offices will adjoin the new headquarters.

It has leaked out that the National Commission has decided to reinstate Pitcher Andrew Coakley, formerly of the Athletics and the Chicago Cubs. Coakley was sold by the Cubs to the Louisville club three years ago and later the pitcher was transferred to the Montreal club, from which he purchased his release for $500. He established a semi-pro club in Paterson, N. J., and the venture was a success until Coakley was notified by the commission that he was an "ineligible player" and that Paterson was barred from games with organized teams unless he left the town or words to that effect. Coakley, oddly enough, had brought a civil suit against the owner of the Cubs. C. W. Murphy, for alleged money due a few weeks prior to the commission's ruling, and since then Coakley after a hearing before the supreme court of baseball, has informed various persons that he would not be reinstated until he had withdrawn his suit against Murphy. Coakley was prepared to make public some alleged inside facts about the way his case had been handled when he got the tip to proceed slowly, the tip coming from a man high up in the national game. Since then Coakley has become very well disposed toward the powers that be, and it was said yesterday on excellent authority that he would be restored to good standing between now and the opening of the championship season on April 12.

"Old Father Bill Daly may have been laughed at in his efforts to win races with plugs, but the turf owes much to him at that," said a Jockey Club steward yesterday. "Daly is one of the very few men who knew how to develop a jockey. In his school of horsemanship Father Bill educated such knights of the pigskin as a Danny Maher, Snapper Garrison, Tommy Burns, Guy Burns, Winnie O'Connor, Lester Reiff, Johnny Reiff and many others. Can anybody show a better record? Daly believed in severe discipline, but it worked like a charm. When the stewards at Bennings therefore fined Daly $250 for thrashing a disobedient jockey several years ago a serious mistake was made. It discouraged Daly and he stopped developing jockeys then and there.

OXFORD WINS BOAT RACE. Cambridge Beaten 2 3-4 Lengths in Fast

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

LONDON, April 1.—The sixty-eighth annual boat race between Oxford and Cambridge universities, which was rowed this afternoon on the Putney course of the Thames, was won by Oxford by two and three-quarter lengths. The official time for the race. for the race was 18 minutes 29 seconds, which breaks the record for the Oxford-Cambridge regattas. The best previous record was 18:47, which was made by the Oxford crew in the race of 1893.

The weather conditions favored Cambridge. There was a slight north wind and the water was calm and unruffled. Oxford won the toss for position and chose the Surrey side of the river.

Both crews got away smartly at 2:36 P. M. Cambridge.

Cambridge drew shead at the start, but Oxford soon got up even. The Dark Blues took the lead and increased the distance between the boats until they were two and a half lengths ahead at the two and threequarter mile mark. Oxford led by three lengths at Barnes Bridge, half a mile from and when Wolgast landed a right on the jaw that sent La Grave headlong through the ropes it was evident to the big crowd that Wolgast couldn't lose.

Wolgast concluded to end the one sided affair in the fourth round, but the bell saved La Grave, who was knocked down four times for the count of nine. The crowd beseeched Referee Jack Welch to stop further proceedings, but La Grave wanted to go ahead, with the result that he was punched into a state of absolute helplessness in the next round, which ended the battle.

Wolgast received $7,500 for this short bit of work and promptly signed articles for a twenty round bout with Frankie Burns, the California lightweight, to be decided in Frisco on May 29. Wolgast will receive another $7,500 guarantee for this converse in the following order:

PINEHURST, N. C., April 1.—Charles Evans, Jr., Western open champion, has enjoyed some rare experiences during his remarkable career, but never a day to com-pare with this. He rounded out his win pare with this. He rounded out his win in the thirty-six hole final round of the United North and South championship by accepting the invitation of Lincoln Beachey to see how Pinchurst looked from a Curtiss biplane. Evans had but just completed his match.

which was won by the liberal margin of 6 up and 5 to play. He was on a saddle horse when the invitation was extended. "Gee, that would be bully!" said Evans, and the same remark, only with nore enthusiasm, was his comment when he alighted after a splendid flight high up and far off into the distance, back again and once around the aviation field. Among the first to reach the machine was Walter

J. Travis. "Well, Chick," commented Travis, "that's the first time I've seen you go 'into the air' since you reached Pinehurst." As for the golf, at the end of the morning
